

RELIANCE SERVICES GROUP

We are pleased to introduce Reliance Services Group (RSG), the newest addition to the Triten Corporation. RSG, along with International Alliance Group (IAG), form the core companies within Triten that provide restoration and reconstruction services following a property loss or catastrophic event. Triten's 64 year old history demonstrates an unwavering commitment to client service, and with RSG we can now respond for clients with even greater resources.

More than a decade and a half ago, Triten formed IAG to provide construction services for the refinery industry and added talented staff from various companies considered to be the pre-eminent for best-in-class technology with proven history of successfully executing projects. IAG quickly grew as a result of its outstanding service record, expanding to other industries covering grassroots construction and reconstruction services on industrial and commercial projects. For the past 15 years, IAG has been an industry-leading turnaround specialist, minimizing disruption of operations and business interruption following property losses and catastrophic events.

Recently, to better serve clients following property loss or damage, IAG assembled some of the insurance and restoration industries' top professionals to form RSG. The leadership team at RSG is comprised of former executives from global insurance broking giants Aon Corp. and Marsh McLennan. To round out this expertise, IAG acquired a leading disaster recovery specialist Air Technology Inc. (ATI), whose principal and team have more than 20 years of hands-on experience providing remediation and restoration services after a catastrophic event.

RSG's exceptional management group complements the existing industrial/commercial rebuild services currently provided by IAG. Operating from offices in Houston, Tampa, New York, Kansas City, Chicago and London, RSG can quickly and effectively assess damage, complete remediation, provide emergency or temporary repairs, and move to final rebuild, all with the focused goal of helping clients resume normal operations as efficiently as possible. The unique combination of IAG and RSG's proven restoration and construction ability, and our insurance expertise ensures the entire recovery process is seamless. With RSG, property owners and insurers now have a complete, turn-key solution to property damage and loss.

For further information on the breadth and depth of our experience, please visit our website at Triten.com.